CATTLEMEN WILL ASK FOR RELIEF

DENVER CONVENTION WILL BE FULL OF INTEREST.

Railroads Will Come in for Share of Discussion — Shortage of Stock Cars Has Lost Cattlemen Thousands of Dollars — Roosevelt's Forestry Policy to Be Given Some Hot Shots—Financial Stringency and Its Remedy to Be Discussed.

Denver, Col., Jan. 20.—It is likely that congress will hear a few things about the need for additional railroad regulation before the 11th annual convention of the American National Livestock association is ended. Hundreds of delegates arrived in Denver today to attend the meeting, which opens tomorrow morning, and nearly every one has a bone to pick with the railroads. The shortage of stock cars, which has resulted in a loss of thousands of dollars to western cattlemen in the last year, is the principal source of complaint.

Another matter which will be argued pro and con is that of the national administration's policy in regard to forest reserves and public grazing grounds. A majority of the stock raisers are decidedly opposed to the Roosevelt reign, in this matter, and will likely give expression to their opinions in vigorous language. The subject of the extension of foreign markets for the meat products of this country will also receive much attention. Government meat inspection and the cost thereof will be fully considered. The financial stringency and its remedy, from the standpoint of cattlemen, will afford an interesting discussion.

If the number of delegates already here and the interest they are manifesting is a criterion, it is certain that the convention will be most largely attended and important in the history of the organization. Western stockmen are confronting many problems of vital interest to their welfare and prosperity and are determined to use every means in their power to secure relief. As a political force the stockmen of the country and their dependents are no insignificant factor, and they will probably take advantage of this fact to urge congress to action.

It is declared by prominent Texas cattlemen that the railroad service, both in the matter of supplying sufficient cars and in the proper transportation of livestock, is more demoralized today than ever before. Hundreds of thousands of cattle which had been fattened and put into prime condition for the market have had to be turned back to the ranges on account of the inability to get cars for their shipment to market. All the labor and expense of stockmen in fattening these cattle was wasted, involving a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Laws for regulating the service performed by railroads are even more important than laws regulating rates, in the opinion of prominent stockmen, and they will demand that congress pass a bill at this session affording relief.

Other laws which congress may be asked to pass for the benefit of the stockmen, include an act preventing railroads raising rates without first securing the consent of the commission; a bill providing for reciprocal trade agreements with foreign countries, and the establishment of grazing districts upon the unreserved and unappropriated lands of the government.

The western stock show, which will be held through the week, has now become a national event and entries have been received from all over the country. The new features of the exhibition this week are carlot exhibits of range horses and displays of grain and forage used in fattening livestock. The association is offering about $10,000 in premiums, and special prizes by associations and individuals will more than double the value of the offerings.

WESTON NOTES.

Second Semester at Normal Will Soon Commence — New Pupils.

Weston, Jan. 20.—Weston Normal second semester will begin the last of January when a number of new pupils will be enrolled. Some improvements will be made for the second semester also.

The recital given at the Normal Friday evening by Miss Hazel Crossen the Pendleton elocutionist, was thoroughly enjoyed. After the recital a dancing party was given which was enjoyed by many of the young people.

It is the intention of the Normal faculty to secure the services of Miss Crossen in teaching elocution.

FARE TO YELLOWSTONE.

Harriman Lines Will Add Side Trips and Reduced Rates.

In all probability the fare to and through Yellowstone park will be cheaper this year, says the Salt Lake Telegram. D. E. Burley, general passenger agent of the Oregon Short Line, has returned from Chicago, where he had a conference with high officials of the Harriman system relative to rates to be in effect to the park the coming summer.

Mr. Burley said yesterday afternoon that he was not at liberty to make any definite announcement as to what the rate would be, but said that from present indications one or two new side trips would be added, and it was possible that the rate would be reduced.

The rate last summer was approximately $55 for the trip from this city through the park and return. The announcement was made this morning that a train would leave Salt Lake each evening during the season and would arrive at the park entrance the following morning.

It Does the Business.

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain of Clinton, Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve. "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25 cents at Tallman & Co.'s drug store.

BETS $1000 ON MEAD.

Railroad Commissioner Backs Up Belief That Governor Will Be Elected.

Probably the first bet on the outcome of the coming state elections was made last week between Railroad Commissioner J. H. Easterday and S. Warburton, the former betting $1000 that Albert E. Mead, present governor of the state of Washington, would be re-elected in November, says Tacoma item.

The bet was the result of a heated discussion that lasted for several hours. The men met by chance and began bantering each other over state politics. Finally Mr. Warburton wanted to bet $200 that Governor Mead would not fill the office again, and as the argument grew in heat the bets were increased until the sum of $1000 was agreed upon. Both gentlemen drew and endorsed checks for that amount and the checks were to be placed in an envelope.
